

Norman Stockbridge received his MD and PhD (Physiology) from Duke University. In 1991, after doing basic science research for ten years, he joined what is now the Division of Cardiovascular and Renal Products in FDA's Center for Drug Evaluation and Research. He has served as Director of that Division since 2004.